DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Zumbe et al.

Zumbe et al discloses a process wherein a milk composition is injected with an inert gas (e.g. carbon dioxide) under pressure (and therefore bubbled therein) at a temperature of, for example, about 45 C. It should be noted that it is inherent that such milk composition may be used in the preparation of ice cream as ice cream employs a milk component.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 2 and 4-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Zumbe et al.

It should be noted that instant claims 2 calls for the use of a temperature as low as "approximately 50 C". Taking into account the wiggle room in using approximately and about in the prior art and instant claim 2, respectively, it is considered expected that such ranges would overlap. However, if it is shown that this is not the case, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to have chosen a temperature around 45 C and close to 50 C (and therefore, being just within or at an endpoint of each range) as a matter of preference within the ranges recited.

The claims further call for the particular time said milk mixture is treated. Zumbe et al is silent regarding such time and is silent regarding limits on same. However, such determination would have been well within the purview of a skilled artisan, and it would have been further obvious to have arrived at the processing time of the instant invention as a matter of preference depending on, for example, the degree of inert gas treatment and result thereof desired.

The instant claims call for using pressure in the range set forth in claim 5 and use of approximately 5.5 bar in claim 6. Even though Zumbe et al discloses a range of pressure encompassing that called for in claims 5 and 6, there is no specific recitation of the range/pressure amounts set forth in claims 5 and 6. Nevertheless, it would have been further obvious to have employed any of the pressure values within the range of Zumbe et al (1.2 – 8 bar) including those of the instant invention as a matter of preference in the absence of a showing of unexpected results.

Allowable Subject Matter

Art Unit: 1761

3. Claim 3 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Reasons for Allowance

4. With respect to claim 3, the prior art of record does not disclose nor teach pasteurization of a liquid mixture for ice cream wherein same is heated at approximately 55 C while simultaneously injecting same with carbon dioxide under the pressure in the manner as called for in the instant claims. The closest prior art, Zumbe et al, requires an upper temperature limit of "about 45 C".

Conclusion

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
